

Favorites will most likely be represented by a single list containing many persons

An overlay will display one schedule from each of many people.

"Term" information will likely only be stored in either schedule or class, but logically makes sense to exist in both.